Name: _____

Name the (nearest) rural community where you live: _____

What aspects of your community do you consider to be its strengths?

Are you satisfied with the current level of development (homesites, buildings, subdivisions, other activities)? Should more or less development be permitted?

What should the Regional District consider when reviewing development proposals?

What opportunities do you see to improve the livelihood or quality of life of residents?

Any other comments:

If you require more space to write, please attach a separate letter. Thank you.

Rural Official Community Plan

INFORMATION

The Rural Official Community Plan (OCP) sets goals, objectives, and policies, concerning land use, to guide the Regional District and its Board of Directors when considering land use decisions. This project covers the green areas illustrated on this map which covers numerous communities in the North, South and West Peace rural areas.

To make policies accurately reflect community values, we need to hear from every community. What social, environmental, and economic aspects should the Regional District consider when reviewing proposals? What aspects of the community are appreciated and what should change?

With community input and background research, a draft OCP is scheduled to be written in Winter 2010. It will be distributed to residents in the Spring for review and comment. From this public review, an updated draft OCP will be forwarded to provincial ministries.

The Regional District participates in many aspects of land use decision-making and priority-setting. This Official Community Plan is intended to help its officials make sound decisions and express informed opinions.

For more information, to have input, or to follow the project process, you are welcome to visit the project website at www.ruralocp.ca or contact Jodi MacLean at the PRRD office in Dawson Creek
